PREFACE

No author can better express the general theme and purposes of this volume, than did Rev. Henry Harbaugh in his 1856 volume of the Annals of the Harbaugh Family in America from 1736 to 1856. We acknowledge the use of copious portions of that volume, and here we wish to copy verbatim the Preface to that volume:

The annals of a family are interesting and sacred to its members alone, and a stranger doth not intermeddle therewith. To cherish the memory of our ancestors is a plain dictate of piety. Only those who care not for their destiny, can be careless as to their origin. He that forgets his ancestors is either stupid or wicked or both.

The reason why the notices of some branches of the family are more full and complete than others, is at once apparent. The necessary details could only be obtained by the assistance of members of the different branches; and in some cases such cooperation could not be secured. Much time has been spent and many letters have been written, in the effort to make the record full. All that it was possible to thus collect is here faithfully preserved. Though minute details may here and there be wanting—small twigs and buds may be missed—yet the historical tree, in its trunk and branches, is here described unbroken and complete, during a growth of one hundred and twenty years.

It will be easy, by the aid of these annals, for the most remote descendant to locate himself and trace his relationship to the parent stock; and thus all that is essential is secured. In regard to the whole, the Author can only say—would it were worthier! As it is, he affectionately dedicates it to one and all, young and old, far and near, known and unknown, who belongs to this wide-spread family.

Annals like these, made up of births and deaths, generations that come and go, remind one sensibly of the vanity of earth, and point earnestly to that which abides in heaven. There may we all meet, when our short pilgrimage on earth is ended—no wanderer lost! H. H.
Lancaster, Pa. Sept. 24th, 1856.

To the paragraph starting with It will be easy, we wish to comment that after 90 additional years have passed, we find it very difficult to connect many families with those outlined in the 1856 book, which listed a total of 41 families. Would that the wonderful little volume had started with all the immigrants, known to have lived in America at that time! Would that we could repeat that the branches here described are unbroken and complete! With descendants from all the immigrants, now known to exist in many sections of the 45 states of the present 48 states, one can readily see how impossible it is to be complete in this respect.

After a quarter of a century of genealogical research, we agree with another faithful chronicler of his family for the same period of time, Mr. J. J. Arbaugh, of Carrolton, Ohio. We desire to chant his words yet to appear in his family history:

As we mingle with our fellowmen, we find many who are careless and have little or no concern as to their earthly origin. However, in the past quarter of a century there is a noticeable increase of interest in genealogical research among those who really think. Some, at least are beginning to consider themselves a connecting link between the past and the future and becoming concerned as to the hereditary traits they are to pass on to their children. An innate desire is hidden in the human heart that their children may profit by their mistakes and better than we. Would it not then be the part of sound wisdom to sound a warning signal before the matrimonial bark is launched? Let young men and women think more seriously of the blood stream they are inviting to mingle with their own, in those dearest of all beings on earth, their own children. Many an unhappy and wretched home would thus be avoided. What can be more pitiable or inconsistent than for young people to demand thoroughbreds in their livestock and at the same time be so little concerned about their own blood, as to make mongrels of their children.

Would that every family would leave behind a written record, portraying faithfully its accomplishments, its successes and failures, its joys and sorrows, its influence as a citizen, as an ambassador of Christ, so that he who runs may read and that children's children may profit thereby.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We shall be forever grateful to the many hundreds, who have helped to make this history. We have many times thanked the scores of clerks in the 297 courts of the land, in which we did search, for giving us access to the various records so vital to the preparation of this volume. It was from these county and state storehouses of the past history that we gained the equivalent of a liberal education in the affairs of our forefathers, and whose trust will be kept sacred in this volume.

We have expressed our appreciation to the many, many sextons of cemeteries, who have led us silently down the many paths leading to resting places of thousands of the family. From their stones, we have enriched the dates of ancestors long since forgotten by many of their descendants, but many of whom have a keen desire to know these data, but, who do not have the privilege of going themselves. Although the memories of the dead have too often faded, like their stones depreciate with time, we have the faith that this volume will be a better monument to their memories than any cemetery marker yet devised.

To the county and state libraries, we owe our thanks, and hope that they keep up their good work by making their shelves depositories of genealogical materials. We have personally examined every county history in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, and many in Michigan, Iowa, Virginia and Maryland.

We are especially grateful to Henry J. Young, Director of the York Historical Society, and to the Society, for their generous assistance, advice, and for giving us access to the stores of records, which they have deposited in their vaults, and for Mr. Young's time in gathering the same, and his untiring efforts in making many translations of church records and other papers in German and Pennsylvania Dutch. (Mr. Young is a Harbaugh descendant.)

It was gratifying to have as a colleague, Mr. Henry A. Meyer, who, although not related, so kindly gave his time in council, and in writing and translating current letters in German. His knowledge of the geography of Europe was helpful.

We owe our thanks to William Kiracofe Harbaugh for passing on to us the large amount of research done by himself, John Calvin Harbaugh, Mrs. William Augustus Harbaugh, and other members of their family.

To Thomas Arthur Harbaugh of Milwaukee goes our appreciation for the many, many records of his branch of the family and for his numerous letters of advice and encouragement. We feel thankful for such persons as Mrs. John Thornton, of Blackfoot, Idaho, for sending valuable contributions to the work.

For aiding in the common purpose by giving their printed booklet, we feel kindly towards Mrs. William A. Harbaugh, of Lima, Ohio, and Mrs. Earl E. Gaver of Columbus, Ohio.

To Miss Mary Harbaugh of Lisbon, Ohio, we owe much for her inspiration and help in completing the history of the Conrad Harbaugh branch.

To William Judson Harbaugh of Mill Run, Pa., we can never express the emotions we have for the use of the family record so carefully prepared by his father, of the Casper Harbaugh branch.

To Sara Emma Spence, Orrtanna, Pa., and to Orintha May Benroth of Columbus Grove, Ohio, we may say, we made free use of the original manuscript and printed copy of the 1915 Annals of the Harbaugh Family by William Lewis Harbaugh and others, who made the book possible.

Without the assistance of Mrs. Francis Marion Harbaugh of Sullivan, Ill., we might never have obtained the history of the immigrant Francis Harbaugh. Miss Nellie Horn of Mount Pulaski, Ill., has spent considerable time and effort in preparing the history of her branch and she has been very cooperative.

We wish he had the space to personally thank each one for their support, however we shall leave this to the individual sections, where we have given credit for their endeavors.

THE HARBAUGH NAME

HAR means master. BACH means brook.

HAR, Teutonic, means dweller at a shelter.

BAUGH, Scandinavian, means poor.

BAUGH, Scottish, means poor, hard-up, weak, shaky, bad, indifferent.

On the HARBACH name we quote a letter signed by Frank B. Harbach, Secretary and Business Manager (retired), Board of School Directors of the City of Milwaukee, Wis., and dated Nov. 14, 1940:

The spelling of the name HARBACH seems to have come down through the centuries without variation as far as my family branch is concerned. The Harbaughs and Harbachs have no relation as far as I have been able to discover.

My parents came to this country in 1849 from Grossen Buseck, a village a few miles from Geissen, Hessen, Germany. Upon the occasion of my last visit there in 1938, I secured a family tree dating back to 1700. I have many relatives there, while a short distance away lies the village of Harbach. Signed Frank B. Harbach.

With the exception of the immigrants John Peter Harbach and Henry Harbach, where the name has been known to be changed to Harbaugh, we have not included the name Harbach in this volume. (See immigrant records No. 8 and No. 13).

If we consider the Danish origin of the family, then the meanings of HAR and BAUGH above, take on significance as meaning a poor person living at a shelter. It was in Denmark, where the earliest spelling of the name was Harsysell, and later Harthbo, Harthboe, Harboe, Harbou, and Harbo. We have found families in America using the last three spellings.

In Germany, the name is spelled Herbach. We found the name Paul Herbach in a recent marriage in Valparaiso, Indiana, and this record gave evidence that the name is Herbach in Russia. In France, the spelling is Herrbach, which is more German than Herbach. (See 1836 and 20).

In America, the first spelling found on record is that of Yoost Harbogh, which is very similar to the Danish spellings. (Warrant Book P, p.261, 1739 at Harrisburg, Pa.) In his will dated March 30, 1762, his name was spelled Yost Herbach. The son of Yost, the immigrant, was listed as Yost Herbach in Braddock's Expedition in 1755, and the same way in 1778, when he was a Captain in the Revolution. Many other such examples could be given to show this German version in the early American records. Mute evidence of this is in the deed of Casper Herbach made in 1768, his first known document, and on his gravestone is carved Casper Harbaugh, born in Germany. Among the earliest immigrants was Conrad Harbaugh. We find his name very few times in documents, but in the Pennsylvania Archives (3rd Ser. 23:322) we find the name as Conrad Herboh.

In America, the spelling Herbach, used by so many of the pioneers, was changed to Herbaugh, which was used for many years, and which is still used in Virginia and many other locations spreading from the Virginia line. In Virginia, we first found the Hurbaugh spelling, which is used by many branches. In some documents, we found the Harbough spelling, which may hark back to the Scandinavian Harbo, or, it could be poor writing, in which the "a" looks like "o." The Rev. Henry Harbaugh says on page 22, that his teacher attempted to make him change the spelling from Harbaugh back to Herbaugh, without success. He might have succeeded by changing it to Herbach, but these early Americans gradually adopted the Harbaugh spelling, which is used by most of them.

THE SWITZERLAND STORY

We hesitate to write this account, but we do so to report results of research. We do not mean to offend anyone, nor to refute the Switzerland story, but to state what we have found.

We quote the following from the Annals of the Harbaugh Family, 1736 to 1856, by Rev. H. Harbaugh. Page 23, He (Yost Harbaugh) was a member of the German Reformed Church. This is certain, from the fact that he came from Switzerland, where all are confirmed to the Church at fourteen years of age. On page 28, He (George son of Yost) was born in Switzerland, about the year of our Lord, 1727. On page 29, about 1761, George Harbaugh removed to the Valley. He was, no doubt, also attracted in that direction, from the fact that there was a short time previous to that, a Swiss settlement begun, a little farther south-west of the Valley, in the neighborhood of what is now called 'Hauver's'. Besides it is a national instinct of the Swiss to love mountainous regions. On page 34, Ludwig Harbaugh, He was also born in Switzerland. On page 40, Jacob Harbaugh. He was my grandfather. He was born in Switzerland, February 5th, 1830.

We quote the following letter, filed in the York Historical Society, and duly signed, but we shall omit the signature.

At Hospenthal, Andermatt Valley, Switzerland, at the head of Gotthard Pass from Switzerland to Italy, I saw the grave of Yost Harbach, whose 3 sons went to America in 1736, entered at Philadelphia and settled in Lancaster Co.

I was told this by Otto Harbach, the proprietor of the inn at Hospenthal, who was a very intelligent German-Swiss gentleman, well versed in his family history. I talked with Mr. Harbach in 1924 and again in 1930.

His names for the three immigrant Harbaughs tallied with those in Dr. Harbaugh's book.

On basis of the numerous references to Switzerland in the Annals and encouraged by the letter quoted above, we attempted to write to Switzerland with the hope that some of them, especially the Otto Harbach, would still be living. The first letter, we were able to get through the mails left America, March 14, 1945. On April 26, 1945, it was stamped Retour, meaning to return to sender, and a label applied with the words Unbekannt, Inconnu, Sconosciuto, which is the American word unknown in three languages, German, French, and Italian. The envelope carrying our letter was postmarked Andermatt and Hospenthal, showing that the postal authorities at both places, know no family by the name.

Having failed to reach the Harbach family, we next attempted to gain some small bit of information from the head school master in the village of Hospenthal. So we prepared a letter in German explaining our predicament. In the course of time we received the following letter.

Hospenthal, Dec. 29, 1945

Dear Mr. Coopridner:

In the first place I must tell you that the school in Hospenthal is run by nuns.

I, the undersigned, immediately gave your letter to the town clerk for investigation. He has held this office many years. Since his grandfather was a citizen in Hospenthal, he could tell me immediately that this strain is unknown to him. In spite of this, he made further inquiries, but in vain.

I was told that you might get some help from the Registrar's Office in Luzerne because it seems more probable a Luzerne strain.

Friendly greetings from

(Signed) Sister Angelia, Superior

Our next step was to write to the Registrar's Office in Luzerne. The following is the reply, which tells what happened:

Registrar's Office of Uri

Altdorf, April 4, 1946

Greetings Sir:

The Chancery's Office of the Canton of Lucerne (corresponding to a county in the United States) has forwarded to us your letter of Feb. 14, in which you sought information concerning members of the family of Harbaugh or Herbach in our Canton, reached us on March 28. You had addressed your inquiry to the Registrar's Office in Lucerne.

You seek information concerning your ancestors, who are said to have emigrated from Switzerland to America about 1736. A distant cousin of yours is supposed to have visited Hospenthal in 1930 where she visited one Otto Herbach, proprietor of an inn.

We can now definitely inform you that any person named Otto Herbach neither ran an inn in Hospenthal nor even lived there. Although the writer knows the circumstances in Hospenthal and all over Uri very well from personal acquaintance and was certain that no Herbach had an inn in Hospenthal in 1930, nevertheless he has searched the record of innkeepers' licenses of Hospenthal from 1924 to 1940 and finds no record of an innkeeper named Herbach.

Likewise no other town of our Canton can produce the name of Otto Herbach, as an innkeeper from personal knowledge we can assure you that this family has not been known here.

We are very sorry to be unable to give you better information. We have also determined from the Family Name Book of Switzerland that the family of Herbach is not represented anywhere in Switzerland as citizens.

With respectful greetings,

Signed Fredrick Gisler, Director of the Office, of the Registrar's Office of Uri.

The original letter in German from Fredrick Gisler was sent to the York Historical Society, and after reading the above here is what a descendant of the Harbaugh family writes:

This bears out what I have suspected all along, namely that the family is not of Swiss origin but comes from the Rhenish Palatinate, as is indicated by the Moravian records of the birth of George Herbach son of Yost. Apparently, because they lived in the mountains and among a number of Swiss families the tradition arose. It is good to see my idea officially confirmed.

Signed, Henry J. Young, Director.

This Swiss story is given for the interest it may create in future investigations in Switzerland or other European countries. We may be reasonably sure that none of the family exist in Switzerland today, but that there are many families by the name in other European countries. The possibilities of research for the Harbaugh family is good in Europe.

THE GERMAN BACKGROUND

The first German settlement in America was at Germantown, Pennsylvania, in 1683, in which is found the name of William Penn. This was a colony of religious refugees, mainly from the Palatinate, Würtemberg, Baden, and Switzerland. This region was mainly in southwestern Germany. Migrations from that region continued for several decades after 1700.

The Continental Congress of 1776 estimated that the German population was as follows: Pennsylvania, 341,000; Maryland, 174,000, and Virginia (including Kentucky) 300,000. The 1790 Census shows that those estimates were too high, but they did show that a large number of Germans must have come over. The Palatines settled in several counties, but it is in these counties of Pennsylvania where we found Herbachs in the early 1700's — Berks, Lancaster, York, and Adams. In Maryland, we found them in the counties of Frederick, Washington, and parts of Carroll. In Virginia we find early Herbach records in the counties of Frederick and especially Shenandoah, before 1800.

The Palatinate (Pfalz) is surrounded by a portion of Hesse, Baden, Alsace-Lorraine, and the Rhineland. We have found numerous references, in which Harbaughs (or Herbach) came from or lived in the regions around the Palatinate. On page 108 of the 1856 Annals we find mention made of the immigrants speaking of the Danube and Hamburg. The river Danube is attached to Würtemberg, which is just east of Baden. Hamburg is completely detached from the region, and we see little reason for mentioning it by the immigrants, until we consider the Denmark angle.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, we found Adolph A. Herrbach (See 20)*. He tells that he was born in Strasbourg, France. This is located in Alsace-Lorraine. At La Porte, Indiana, we found the marriage of Elmer Eugene Herrbach, (See 612) who stated that his father Theodore Herrbach, was born in Germany. History shows that Alsace-Lorraine is that portion of Europe, which has changed hands between France and Germany several times, so these two Herrbach records fit into the Palatinate.

Henry Harbaugh, (See 951) who lived at Springboro, Ohio, was born at Grossenbuseck, Germany. This is just east of the Palatinate area. We shall consider that Harbachs are not Herbachs. See the letter from Milwaukee, in the Harbaugh Name section.

John Harbaugh, (See 1162) William County, Ohio, came to America in 1851 from Ottweiler, Germany, which is located in the Palatinate. He told the 1860 census taker he was born in Baden. This shows that not all of the family came at the time Yost, Conrad and Casper came.

We found a marriage record at Valparaiso, Indiana, in which Paul Herbach (See 1836) claimed that his father Peter Herbach was born in Russia. It is definitely known that many Germans left the Palatinate for Russia at the same time others came to America. Since the marriage of Paul Herbach indicated that he was born in 1917, this shows that there are possibly Herbachs in Russia today.

*NOTE: All numbers following names, as See 20, refer to family numbers in the genealogy section, which see.

In many of the larger libraries there may be found copies of the Index Generalis. This is a large book published in 1938 in France and New York City, and it is largely a yearbook of Universities, Schools, Academies, and other Learned Societies of Europe. On page 1813 of this book we find one Association for the Prehistoric and Historical study of Bautzen. Bautzen is in the southeastern portion of Germany, occupied by Russians following War II. This Association had in 1938 for its President, a Mr. W. Herbach, who was also general secretary, corresponding secretary, and editor of their publications. This Association had 6 honorary members, 50 patrons, and 300 titular members, the membership limited to that number. Among the several worthy objects of the Association, was study of Genealogy. Since its main officer was W. Herbach, we assumed that he must have some knowledge of the Herbach family. Following the War II we posted a letter to him at Wettinstr 33, Bautzen, Sachsen, Duetschland. The letter was delivered to the town, and on its return to sender notice was written, in poor German, perhaps by some Russian, the words cunff garfsorlenn (as near as we can make out the script), which means addressee died to which was added June 4, last year, meaning 1945. Whether or not a bomb may have struck the Association of Mr. Herbach we cannot say. We forthwith addressed a letter to the Association, and enclosed our letter to Mr. Herbach, with suitable additions, explaining that we desired to contact some of his relatives. But alas, almost a year has passed and we have never heard further. We have given these details to some members of the family, who will visit Europe in the future and perhaps they can unearth some records, for which we have been hoping for years.

Faust, in his book The German Element in the United States (Vol. 2, page 341), we find the following in talking about Rev. Henry Harbaugh:

The homely simplicity and tender pathos of his poems, remind one strongly of the German dialect of the poet of the Black Forest, J. P. Hebel. The Black Forest is located in Baden and Württemberg, Germany.

To summarize our Switzerland and German stories we can do no better than to quote a letter written Dec. 3, 1944, by Mr. Henry Young, Director of the York Historical Society:

I have long believed that the family is of German, not Swiss, origin, in spite of the tradition cited by Henry Harbaugh, and even though there may be branches in Switzerland. I believe on the basis of a history of that part of Maryland that includes the Harbaugh Valley, that the Harbaughs were one of a group of mountaineer families that are called the Schweiters or Swiss Party in Frederick County, because they were closely associated and intermarried, partly Swiss and all of them mountaineers. I have the impression that they were an important democratic element, and through ignorance of some details they evidently came to accept the idea that they were racially Swiss as well as socially and politically. Otherwise, I cannot satisfactorily explain the fact that the Moravian records both at York and Graceham show that Yost's eldest son, George, was born near Kaiserlautern in the Palatinate. These records were compiled a century before the ANNALS were published and were not known to Henry Harbaugh, but we have no evidence of Swiss origin earlier than the tradition published in the ANNALS and accepted without question ever since.

DENMARK ORIGIN

In our wide search for data, we found a little book in the Library of Congress, entitled Notes about the Family Harbou, by a Captain H. W. Harbou, written in Copenhagen and published in Rotterdam in 1889. After lengthy study, the librarian in the Library of Congress assured us that the name Harbou would be Herbach in Germany and Harbaugh in America. We had a copy of this little book made in Danish and sent to C. C. F. Hofman, a friend of ours of long standing, in Copenhagen. He not only informed us that there are many families of that name there in 1947, but he also kindly furnished a translation of the historical sections. He went further by going to his library in Copenhagen, and copied the account in the Danish Biographical Handbook, Tome IX, 1936.

All this is too long to quote here but a brief may be interesting.

In the book, we find spellings of Harboe, Harbo, Harthbo, Hardbo, and Harbou. It is somewhat exciting to discover many early records of Americans, who have used various of these spellings. We have called attention to several of these in the genealogy section. Moreover, when we look through the little book, we find several first names familiar to the early American families — Conradin, Ludvig, Christen, Peder, Johanne, Hendrick, Daniel, Frederik, Otto, Jacob, Elisebeth, Anne, Else, Catrine, Maria and Sophia. These names were changed very little. These names were also found, which were changed — Jens, Hans, both meaning John, Jorgen (George), Mette (Matilda), Lorentz (Lawrence), Karen (Catherine), and Niels (Nicholas). We were disappointed in not finding Yost (Yoost) or Casper.

In Denmark, the name Harbou or Harbo, is connected with Hardsyssel, or province of Hard, today the country of Ringkobing, in the western part of Jutland, which is a part of Denmark. This region was assigned to several noble families, but it is impossible to establish a connection between them. It was from this name Hard, that Captain Harbou said that a man named Harb originated, and from that Harbou. As early as 1310, persons living in Hardsyssel (originally Harthe), and, when they went away from there, were known as Harboe.

In 1350 the bishop of Ribe established a soul-mass for his father Thuer Harthbo, his mother Kirstine and his sister Esse, from his inheritance he had received from their estate in Ribe. Other records show the name Hardbo in Harbo City court in 1433 and Jens Hardbo was made sheriff at Hammershus. In 1448 the court gave Peder Hardbo the monastery at Viborg his farm estate, which his father and namesake had promised the monastery.

In 1492 Jens Pederson Harbo in Lille Torup presented the coat of arms, which 52 years earlier was given Knud Nielsen, founder of the family Harbou. In about 1692 some of these descendants went to the Rhine country and held on to the name Harbo, which was true of the families remaining in the Jutland, who can be traced over the period of 200 years since they were noblemen.

Paul Harboe, an interest writer in 1570, was later called Royal Pensionarius, and from him descended a family which served the church and state officials in the army and navy. A most well known man of the family of Ludvig Harboe, in 1783 became bishop over Sjaelland County. Because of their connections with King Christian of Denmark, the name Christian was used early among the Harboe tribe, and as late as 1830 one Christian Harbou was made a regiment officer in the Danish-Norwegian army. Altogether some 40 to 50 officers by the name of Herboe had served their country. The names Ludwig and Christian were used by early Herbachs in America as well as in Denmark.

For 200 years after 1700 many changes in the spelling of the name occurred, one being Horrebour, which started in 1711 as a variation of Harboe. Many names, with all variations, are usually connected with the military, the courts, the church, or other public duties. Manor houses, castles, estates, and many lineages back to as many as 27 generations are frequent. In the book, mention is made of Chicago, New York City, and South Bend, Indiana, as known descendants were reported with dates in these places, all with the spelling Herboe. No mention was ever made of Herbach or Harback. We may assume that this branch went to Germany, and those, who remained in Norway and Denmark, were hostile to the Teutons. Is it any wonder that the father of Conrad Harbaugh spoke of castles, and nobility?

The Captain Harbou book describes several coats of arms, with minor variations from the general pattern. The basic coat of arms is described as a six-pointed white (silver) star, over three waves in a blue field and on a helmet two virgin arms, one blue and one green, holding a similar star. The letter dedicating the coat of arms to Knud Nielsen, ancestor of the family Harbou, was issued in the year 1440. The letter was given for Trust and ready service, rendered to the country.

In the Library of Congress, Washington, may be found Siebmacher, Wappenbuch, 1869 Nurnberg, Vol. 2, Part 4, Plate 3, Text 5, in which there is a picture of one of the coats of arms and the following text:

Altdanische Familie, welche v.k. Christoph von Danemark a. 1440 den Adelstand als v. Harbo, (mit dem Wappen der (1634d) dan. Familie von Hoide) in Person des Knud Nielsen aus Vidfuglebjerg erhielt.

The above was translated by Mrs. Lucille Hansel of Clayton, Iowa, as follows — Old Danish family upon whom King Christopher of Denmark in the year 1440 bestowed the title Von Harboe together with the coat of arms of the Danish family Von Hoide. Received by Knud Nielsen of Nidfuglesbjerg.

The coat of arms text may also be found in French, and there are five of the coats of arms pictured in the Adels at Washington.

It might be well to say that Captain W. H. Harbou was born in 1853 in Altona, just adjacent to Hamburg, in Germany, which was Danish at that time. He died in 1918 as a Colonel in the Danish Army. Conrad Harbaugh's father spoke of Hamburg. In the death notice of Colonel Harbou, was stated that he had an uncle, who went to America. That is the nearest we came of making the connection between the Danish, the German and the American families. We feel that there is a connection, which may be worked out by going to Denmark and Germany.

Without going to Europe and to add a little spice to the Harbou names and story given above, we give the following from records we have found in America.

Levi Herboe married Polly Sawyer March 20, 1820, in Madison County, Ill.

William H. Harbou married Ella E. Schaeffer in 1830, in Whiteside County, Ill.

In the death record of David Harbaugh (See 431), we find that on May 1, 1860 the family spelled his name Harbou, and we know that all others of this lineage used Harbaugh.

In another Harbou book published in Denmark, we find the genealogical tables referring to James Bickel Harbou, born January 11, 1852 and leaving Macedon for New York City, March 3, 1876 (See 1474). John Walter Harbou, born Jan. 24, 1847 was living in South Bend, Indiana in 1869.

In the cemetery at Coldwater, Michigan, we found a lot, under the name of Harbaugh, with several burials. The lot had only one stone, that of a negro, a servant in the Harbaugh home. There being no stones, we looked up the plot book, to find that Mary Harbou age 71, died in 1872, was buried on the lot with two Harbou children, who were buried nine years earlier. This Mary Harbou was born in Pennsylvania. On the same lot was buried A. V. Vanderhaden (See 1171).

In the wills at Jackson, Michigan, we find one for Ella G. Harbou, who died Apr. 29, 1925, in which she named children living in Jackson and Shelses, Michigan, in Seattle, Wash., and South Bend, Indiana. No trace of these was found.

HARBO is a village in Upsala Province north of Stockholm, Sweden. HARBO is a village in Buchanan County, Missouri. HARBAUGH is a village in Leavenworth Co., Kansas, with mail at Linwood. HARBAUGH was a postoffice in Indiana (See 797).

THE IMMIGRANTS

1. YOST HARBAUGH, (See 2315). He was perhaps the first to come to America. According to family tradition, he came with his family in 1736. Rev. Henry Harbaugh heard his grandfather say that he came to America when he was six years old, and Jacob was born in 1730. Some descendants reported that Yost came in 1735, but they were unable to authenticate the story. Neither has anyone found an immigration record for Yost Harbaugh.

2. CONRAD HARBAUGH (See 378). This was perhaps the second immigrant, together with his father and two brothers Jacob and Peter. This fact was reported in a letter written in 1854 by Conrad's son Daniel and copied in the 1856 Annals. Rev. Henry Harbaugh commented that Conrad's father and Yost were no doubt brothers, reasoning that the children of Conrad and Yost were about the same ages and that they resembled each other in appearances. We did considerable research to find the name of Conrad's father, but in vain. We contacted the genealogist of the Stoner family, but here again we were disappointed. Daniel Harbaugh's grandmother was a Stoner. Due to the letters of Daniel and his brother William, both copied in the 1856 Annals, we have an almost complete genealogy of the branch. The brothers of Conrad, namely Jacob and Peter, have been lost to the records. There are several possibilities, but no one has identified himself with the existing data.

Concerning Conrad's father, we quote from the 1856 Annals, which was in the form of a letter to Rev. Henry Harbaugh, dated Mar. 22, 1854.

My grandfather Harbaugh held some high offices in the government in the old country, but I am unable to state the government. I heard my uncles say that they had all kinds of Mills, and that they had a Castle. They talked of the Danube, Hamburg, and so forth. On account of a revolution in the government, my grandfather left and came to Philadelphia. I heard him say, that he brought none but three sons: that is my father—he was the eldest of the three, his name was Conrad—the other two, Jacob and Peter. He never intended to settle in this country, but calculated to return whenever the government became settled. He always carried a sword, and other badges of office. It might be, he was buried in Downers or Stoners grave-yard.

3. JACOB HARBAUGH, brother of Conrad, see the story above.

4. PETER HARBAUGH, the other brother of Conrad, may have settled in Westmoreland County, Penna. It is possible that he changed his name to Arbaugh. However, in the 1790 Census we find Peter Harbough and again in the 1800 Census as Peter Harebaugh, both in Westmoreland County. In the later he was over 45 years of age, which would make him the right age to be the brother of Conrad. There are similar records for the brother Jacob in Fayette and Westmoreland Counties.

5. CASPER HARBAUGH, (See 230). According to a family record prepared by Allen Edward Harbaugh, a great-grandson of Casper, this immigrant came to America in 1742 as a nine year old boy with the Adam Cramer family. In Strassburger's Index of Penna German Pioneers, 1:44, we find that Adam Kreemer (Cramer) arrived in America at Philadelphia, Sept. 11, 1731. Included in the list of children under 16, were Casper Kramer, Yost Kramer, Jost Kramer, Ludwig Kramer, Conrad Kramer, and Casper Weymer. All those first names are familiar to the Harbaugh family but the list did not contain Casper Harbaugh. Could it be that Casper Harbaugh was younger than nine years, and that he came as Casper Cramer or Casper Weymer in order to avoid immigration questions? It is known that Casper Harbaugh associated with the Cramers and Weimers most of his life, in fact he married a Mary Cramer, and is buried in the private burial ground of the Cramer family.

On board from Europe, Casper Harbaugh contracted the plague and they thought him dead, so they sewed his body up in canvas and were ready to cast him overboard, when they found him alive. This story was passed down by David, the son of Casper, to his grand daughter Mary Osborn (1523). In the same account, David said his father was born in Hesse, Darmstadt, Germany. Casper's son Leonard told his grandson Allen Edward Harbaugh (57) that the immigrant came from Weisbaden, Germany. This was written in the history prepared by Allen. When one notes that the Harbaughs of that date were largely rural, and when one consults the map of Germany, he finds that Darmstadt and Weisbaden are less than 25 miles apart, perhaps both sons were correct in giving the general location of birth. We know that this region was populated with members of the family at that time. We also know that members of the family remained near each other both over there and in America. Our earliest records of Casper shows him living in York County, Pa., where at the time he came, lived the immigrant Yost, whose story is above.

6. FRANCIS HARBAUGH (See 715) must have come to America before 1758, for on May 9th of that year we find he enlisted as a soldier in the Province of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. He was born in Germany. See his story in the French and Indian War section.

7. PHILIP HARBAUGH (See 1876). According to family legend, he came to America about 1775 and settled in Shenandoah County, Virginia. No document could be found to this effect, and all the counties were searched, where the traditions centered.

8. JOHAN PETER HERBACH (See 1240). This was an immigrant on lists 88A, 88B, and 88C of Palatines aboard the ship Snow Molly, Master John Cranch, from Rotterdam, on Oct. 26, 1741. These lists are reproduced in Strausberger, Index of Penna German Pioneers, pp. 313-5, of Vol. I. The name appears on list 87, of Rupps Immigrants in Penna, p. 151. This is the ancestor of the Harbaughs of Bedford County, Penna. and their descendants in Iowa and many other places.

9. PETER HORBACK, or HORBACH, or HERBACH, appears in all three spellings on list 324-C and was imported into the U.S.A. at Philadelphia Oct. 9, 1775 in the King Ship of Prussia from Rotterdam. (Penna German Pioneers 1:762-3.) Strausberger thought this was a Horbach and we believe this to be true for we found this name in the deeds of Westmoreland County, Pa., where we also find records of John Peter Herbach, listed just above. Until further documents are produced, this will have to remain just another immigrant.

10. RICHARD HARBAUGH (See 1929) appeared in Erie County, Penna., for the first time according to descendants' word of mouth stories. No evidences could be found in the Erie Courthouse records, in the immigration records, in the Penna Archives, or in the cemetery near which he is known to have lived. We shall accept him as an immigrant until proved otherwise.

11. ANDREW HERBACH is the exact spelling of one born Oct. 3, 1882 in Louisville, Ky., and who died Nov. 14, 1915 in Louisville, and whose marker was found in the Evergreen Cemetery. In the Kentucky Vital Statistics records, filed in almost every county in that State, the death record states that his father was Andrew Herbach, also, and that he was born in Germany. His mother was Catharine Feltman, also born in Germany.

12. JOHN HARBAUGH (See 1172) was first found listed in the 1860 Census of Williams County, Ohio. In this report he told the Census taker he was born in Baden, Germany, together with his wife and his first four children, which fixes the year he came to America as 1851 for the fourth child was born in 1850 and the fifth in 1852. This Census record was verified by his grandsons.

13. HENRY HARBACH (See 951) came to America in 1856, as a single man, who was born in 1825 in Germany. This is confirmed by the 1860 Census of Warren County, Ohio, in which he told the Census taker he was born in Germany. The Harbach name is another line, not related in any way to the Harbaugh family (or Herbach in Germany). The Harbachs came from an entirely different part of Germany. After being in America, Henry Harbach changed his name to Harbaugh, as was shown in the 1870 Census. Some members of the family continued to use Harbaugh and others reverted back to Harbach. This story confirmed by several of his sons.

14. CHAMBIERS DOTY HARBAUGH (See 256) came to America in 1858. He settled for a time at Scranton, Warren Co., Pa., and later removed to Cincinnati, Ohio. This story was told by two of his grandsons, and we have no documentary evidence.

There are many immigration records of Harbach spellings, as well as some Horbachs. It is possible that the scribes of the early 1800's and before changed the names so that some have lost their identity.

Concerning immigrants, we quote the following from the Union with the Church, by Rev. Henry Harbaugh, D.D., undated from Lancaster, Pa., on pp. 65-6. It is from one of his many sermons.

Left on the uncovenanted wilds of the world, without God and without hope, aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers to the covenants of promise, it is not strange that they first despise, then wander, and at last perish.

To illustrate this solemn and alarming truth, we may refer to a fact, and there are many like it. Two brothers came from Switzerland, four generations back. The one was in the Church, and remained in it, a faithful member, bringing up all his children in it. Piety is still honored in all the branches of that family in the fourth generation.

The other became a sot, and of course, cast off the covenant for himself and his children. Not only his drunkenness, but the curse of being out of the Church, can be distinctly traced to that family in the fourth generation! Such are the solemn and far-reaching consequences of our acts upon our posterity.

It isn't difficult to read into the two brothers above, the name of Yost Harbaugh, but who might the other be? The other was merely referred to in his 1856 Annals, as the father of Conrad. The father of Conrad had two other sons, Jacob and Peter. There is evidence, that these sons may have gone to Shenandoah Valley, Virginia. If this is true, then we have met some very fine descendants!

FRENCH AND INDIAN WARS. 1754-1763

We find that five Harbaughs took part in these wars. The numbers following the names refer to families in the genealogy section.

1. CASPER HARBAUGH, (230) was teamster No. 6 in the Braddock Campaign and he served in the bloody defeat, which that ill-fated expedition suffered. For a period of fourscore years, Casper's story of the defeat was substantially the same in its details as history records show. However, he denied the charge that the Penna Dutch teamsters fled like sheep at the first onslaught of the French and their savage allies. His statement was in substance, that General Braddock, before receiving his fatal wound, had given orders that the wagons be brought out, but an attempt to turn them, soon led to hopeless entanglement in the underbrush. With the savages cutting off the line of retreat, such of the teamsters as remained unhurt, cut a horse from his wagon, mounted him, and attempted an escape the best he could. Casper Harbaugh was one of the few who escaped that slaughter.

He was an eye witness at the burial of General Braddock, which was by daylight and not by torchlight as asserted by some. The earth, he said, was hastily replaced and trodden down so as to obliterate the grave. (Story from History of Somerset County, Pa. pp. 235-6)

2. FRANCIS HARBAUGH, (715). We quote the following directly — Monthly return of soldiers in my company for July 1, 1758, Capt. John Bull. Laborer. 5 ft. 5 in. Born in Germany. Enlisted at Philadelphia, 9th May 1758 as a foot soldier in the Province of Penna., 1744-1765. Age 34. Complexion mulatto. Well set. (Penna Archives 5S 1:227)

3. JACOB HAROBOGH was a foot soldier of Culpeper County, Virginia, in March 1756. (Ref. Va. Col. Militia, by Armstrong Crosier, p. 58)

4. LUDWIG HARBAUGH, (1486). See the account under his record.

5. YOST HARBAUGH, (2316) Teamster in Braddock's Expedition, 1775. Later appointed Captain in the Revolution. (Ref. Seilhamer, G. O., Genealogical Notes, State Library, Harrisburg, p. 49.)

REVOLUTIONARY WAR RECORDS

2. CONRAD HARBAUGH, (378). We find this name as a Ranger of the Frontier, in a list of soldiers of the Revolution in John Beason's Company from Westmoreland County, Pa. (Penna Archives, 3S 23:229 and 23:322). He was killed by the Indians in Westmoreland County, wrote one of his sons in 1854 and quoted on page 106 of the 1856 Annals of the Harbaugh Family. In a deed (E-131) recorded in Fayette County, Pa., we find the statement that Jonathan Rowland and

Susannah his wife, who was the widow of Conrad Harbaugh, who fell on the Expedition against the Sandusky Indians. According to the history books, this date was June 5, 1782. Conrad Harbaugh received depreciation pay as a Private, Continental Line, York County (Pa.) 12. YOST HARBAUGH, (2315). Captain, 7th Company, 2nd Battalion York County Militia, dated Apr. 5, 1778. (See Penna Archives, 6S 2:463). His name also appears as a 7th Class Private in Capt. Simon Koppenhaffer's Company, dated Feb. 5, 1782. (See Penna Archives, 6S 2:657.)

13. For a secondary line with service in the Revolution see Major William Bailey, see 162 in the genealogy section, also See 556.

THE MEXICAN WAR 1846-1848

The Ohio Roster contains the names of Cornelius Harbaugh, Private, age 18 on May 23, 1846, and William Harbaugh, Private, Age 27, on July 3, 1846. No other names were found, yet it is possible they served.

THE CIVIL WAR 1861-1865

In the Pension files in the US Archives at Washington, we found the names of 91 different Harbaughs, who had applied for pensions. The Ohio Roster lists 52 names from that state, nine of which were not included in the 91. This confirms the story told by several Civil War veterans that they were too proud to apply for pensions. The Indiana Roster contains the names of 21, and only three of these applied for pensions. The Maryland Roster lists only one name. No Virginia Roster was found, but since several of the 91 spelled their names Harbaugh, we feel that state supplied its share. The list of Civil War veterans is too long to copy here, but the personal records are included in the genealogy section.

THE WAR WITH SPAIN. 1898-1899

The Ohio Roster lists three names: Charles W. Harbaugh, Private, residence Ballou, O. age 22, when mustered in on June 23, 1898. Thomas J. Harbaugh (2142) Chaplain, resided at Kalida, Ohio, age 59 at enlistment on May 19, 1898. Wade Harbaugh, Private, resided at Mansfield, Ohio, age 19 at enlistment.

Milo Jack Harbaugh (1735A) also served in the Spanish-American War.

WORLD WAR I. 1918-1919

The Indiana Roster of soldiers in War I shows the names of 14 Harbaughs, all of which are recorded under their names in the genealogy section. No other roster was found in other states, if they exist, needless to say the Harbaughs in other states did their part. Although they were asked, the living veterans were very reluctant to report, and all who did have their records recorded in their proper places.

WORLD WAR II. 1941-1945

At this time, it is too early to make an estimate of the number of members of the family who served in War II. All were asked for their records, and all who reported, have their records recorded in the genealogy section.

HARBAUGH RELIGION

At the time of migration, three religions existed in the Palatinate — Reformed, Lutheran and Catholic. Estimates made in 1757 show that less than 900 Catholics in Pennsylvania, and most of these were in Berks, Philadelphia and Lancaster Counties. Although the Harbaughs came to these three counties, we find that most of the early families were either Reformed or Lutheran. The United Brethren established the first church in Pennsylvania in 1740, and one of the very first of these was built in Harbaugh Valley, with several Harbaughs participating. From that time to this, many Harbaughs have belonged to this church or the Moravian as it is called in some places. Today, the great masses of the family belong to some church or creed, practically all reporting some faith.

FAMILY REUNIONS

It has been our happy privilege during the past years to meet several branches of the Harbaugh family and to address them at their annual picnics. We are grateful to all who voted us their historians — we hope we have kept faith with them in this report! Before War II stopped these gatherings, we knew of the following reunions. ### THE UNITED STATES CENSUS

The first census on a national basis was in the year of 1790. This census was printed and copies may be found in most of the larger libraries. Perhaps everyone knows that a census has been taken each ten years since 1790. With the exception of a few copies which have been lost, all census records are on file in the National Archives Building in Washington, D. C. In a few places, copies of the census have been made of certain years, and these have been placed by private funds in libraries. In some counties duplicate records were made, notably 1880, and these may be found in some courthouses. For the most part, it is necessary to go to the Archives to search these census records or to hire professional searchers. If one does the searching, there is no charge.

The census records of the years, 1790, 1800, 1810, 1820, 1830 and 1840, contain the names of the Head of Families, together with the numbers (no names) of the males and the females, together with the approximate ages, of all living within the confines of that particular household. These early years aid only in proving that certain families lived in the location designated. They are very unreliable in determining the exact personnel of any one family, for the hired hands and maids may be included in the household.

Beginning in 1850, the census-taker wrote down the names and ages of every person in the household, which makes this the first real aid to the genealogist. In 1860 and 1870, he not only listed the names and ages of the household occupants, but also where they were born, their occupations and their assessed valuations. These help considerably, but can be very confusing at times.

No census record later than 1870 is open for the public inspections. For the one who uses the census records, it is best to know the state, county, township or town before going to the Archives building, for the census-taker went down the road or street, in which members of the family may have lived, and listed the families as he came to them. It is best to go into the counties to determine the possible counties in which to search.

We have spent many weeks in Washington, during which time we searched a total of 1,162 townships and towns, finding Harbaughs listed in 426 of them, which leaves 736 counties in which search was in vain, even though we had gone into most of the counties searched and knew the locations. Where no better data could be obtained, we have used the census records in the directory. These can be detected by noting that the month and date are missing from the birth year.

THE UNITED STATES ARCHIVES

The National or United States Archives in Washington, D. C., make excellent sources for data. Here are housed the military records, the pension records, and the Census records, mentioned above. The military and pension records are very complete, and the data are authentic. Of course only a limited number of the family have belonged to the military.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

In the Library of Congress, Genealogy Section, are housed copies of all family histories that have been deposited with the government. Not only American family histories, but also foreign family records are to be found. The card index system is very complete, and these make excellent research data.

THE COUNTY COURTHOUSE RECORDS

Too often the county courthouse is looked upon as a place of trouble or where we pay our taxes. Without these courthouses, not many of us would like our nation. In them we deposit records of deeds, marriages, births, deaths, wills, in fact any document of value. After they are deposited, they are generally open to the public, with certain reservations necessary to protect the same, which is the sworn duty of the elected officers.

The grantee deeds are dated and these indicate the time property was purchased. The grantor deeds indicate the dates property is sold. The grantor deeds usually bear the names of both husband and wife, and in many of them, where no will was left, they indicate the heirs and their relationships. All of these records make excellent sources of genealogical data.

Our search for Harbaugh data, took us into 297 courthouses, in which we found data pertaining to the family in 212 of them. The fact that we were disappointed in 85 of these counties, indicates that we carefully planned in which counties it would be most profitable to search. In many we searched because we had the time. In a few other counties, we know there are many documents, but we did not get to these.

OTHER SOURCES OF DATA

The task of searching thousands of records for data recorded herein has been herculean, covering a period of over 25 years. In addition to the many court house and census records, which we have examined, we have viewed many old Bibles, dimmed with age, and looked at hundreds of grave stones, deteriorating with time. The seeking of many histories, of families, county and state, and searching them for the data they contain was a large task. The attendance at reunions and calling at homes, were more of pleasant visits, yet they were often more time consuming than the gaining of data.

All of the above was very fruitful, but to us the most valuable source of data was the contacts made by mail. Our last count shows that we sent 3,533 letters, and well over 3,000 cards in order to gather in and correct the reports. In the letters, we enclosed a special sheet we prepared with the hopes it would make it easy to write down the complete data so vital to family histories. The response to this writing was very splendid, but the reading of these reports, together with the accompanying letters, consumed thousands of hours of time, as well as the considerable finance they incurred.

Incidents, signatures, pictures, and very personal stories and poems have been largely omitted, lest the finished work should grow beyond the stages of control. There are enough of the above mentioned details to fill another volume larger than this. The materials employed, were, as far as possible, from original sources, preserving the spellings in many cases. No attempt was made to correct the dates from the old style to the new style, which began, as applied to this volume, in Sept. 1752. Before then, the year began on March 25th, with March the first month in the year, instead of our present January. If you wish to figure out the difference in the two styles, add eleven days to all dates between Mar. 1, 1699 and Sept. 2, 1752.

No claim for errors is entertained by the compilers. We freely admit the human element on our part in transcribing the data. We know there are many errors in this volume. We are consoled by the fact that those who reported, and others, who write down data of all kinds, are also human, and that they too make errors. Many members of the same immediate family reported the details differently. We have several records of the same individual reporting the same items differently at different times, in some cases there are errors in the same report that directly conflict. It is humanly impossible for some to write data so that it can be read — many reports came from the aged, whose hands have become shaky — we bless their efforts, and trust that their offspring will thank them in future years for their kindness. Many neglect to put down on paper, the vital statistics so important to family history. In former years the families, young and old, set these matters down on a special page in their Bible. Now those young are old, and it is sometimes regretful that the young now depend upon birth certificates and fail to write in their own Bibles.

We have done the best we could with what all the data we obtained. The linotypists and the printers have cooperated in helping to eliminate the human element on their part and in correcting errors. These data presented have been checked five times, so we have done all we can to make them complete and authentic. We note that most genealogies are conspicuous in at least one respect, their glaring errors. If you do find errors on the printed page to your disliking, please feel free to correct your own copy and we shall be very happy.

All data presented are complete as we have them. Families compiled from the Census, Court records, and similar documents, may be incomplete. These can generally be detected by incomplete dates, as such records generally have the year only, the month and day are missing.

We also searched most of the city directories of the nation for Harbaugh names and every person listed was sent our letter. If you, the reader after 1946, were missed, or if your record does not appear, we humbly regret that you were missed, hence omitted. However, we do not assume the responsibility of the omission, since some of your near relatives knew of our project, and they were all asked to contact all members of their branch.

We have not intentionally omitted the name of any Harbaugh or their marriage partner. We did not make a family spread if we had insufficient data. We regret the fact that we had to limit the records to one generation removed from the Harbaugh name. In other words, no record appears unless their name was Harbaugh at one time.

It is not the aim of this directory to furnish complete units of families presented, but to trace as many lines as possible back to their immigrants or to the earliest known records. Each year, time, fire and flood, take their toll of our heritage of Bibles, personal records, court records, grave stones, letters, news clippings, and other things gotten together by the elders. It is desired that we might preserve some of these collections for future generations. Having used all the available records, there are so many places where the history seems so meager and incomplete.

HOW TO USE THE DIRECTORY AND GENEALOGY

On the pages that follow, we have arranged the families alphabetically by first names. In every case their last name is Harbaugh, or its variation. Where the first names are the same, the eldest is placed first. Beginning with Aaron and ending with Zora the families are numbered from 1 to 2326. Some data were presented after the manuscript was prepared, hence such families were given an A or a B after the number. In a few cases, errors in numbering were discovered, hence the A or the B was used, so as to include them in their proper places. To illustrate let us turn to the first family.

1. Aaron Elmer Harbaugh, 628. Mobile, Alabama. In this the 1, is his family number. Then his name. The number 628 is the number of his parents family, which is Emery Adelbert Harbaugh, in which Aaron's name appears as a child. Following the name of Emery Adelbert Harbaugh is the number 1072, which is the family of Emery's parents. And thus by going from the number following the name to the number preceding the name, you can trace your lineage to the immigrants' record or the earliest record we have in the directory. Following the number 628 in this case, we give the present address or the place where the individual lived last, or where they lived at death. The occupation often precedes the address.

To illustrate the further use of the directory and genealogy, turn to family 433, David Harbaugh, 1065. Shingle shaver, Farmer, Dunbar, Pa. The child William died as an infant, and the dates make this clear. Cathran Ann, is followed by her birth and death dates, and See 250, which means that there is a family record for her, numbered 250. Elizabeth has the dates given, and following these is m. Calvin Holmes, NC. This means that Calvin Holmes was the name of her husband, the NC means they had no children, hence the lineage stops here. If there was no NC or other notation, we give no further data and the line would also stop.

It is the custom in America to give the children the name of their father. So the names of the children were given without the family name of their father, which should be understood in each case. Following the genealogical and geographical line, we give the data relative to the family, and this is followed by the names of the children, their dates of birth if known, and death dates if known or if that has occurred, and following this notes about the children. Simple abbreviations were used as follows —

Many State names were abbreviated, which should be understood.

B—means Born, birth date, or birth place, or both.

D—means Died, or death date, death place, or both.

M-or-m, means Married. Married name of partner, marriage date, or place of marriage, or all three, or combination of the three.

NC—means No Children, or all children born to the union died as infants.

* Asterisk, refers to a note about the one family in which used.

In the early war records, including all forms of military services, many abbreviations were used in government records, some of which we do not know the meaning, but we give them as they are recorded, the more common as follows: Pvt.-Private, Sgt.-Sergeant, Lt.-Lieutenant, Co-Company, Cav-Cavalry, V-or-Vol-Voluntary, O-Ohio, Pa-or-Penna-Pennsylvania, Reg-Regular, Tr-Transferred, and others which may be deciphered. In giving these military records all punctuations were omitted so as to make them less confusing. In the recent wars, a multiple of codes were used, all of which we cannot attempt to give. T/Sgt.-Technical Sergeant, 1/c-First Class, etc.

We hope you have many hours of pleasure using this genealogy, and that your children after you, and their children's children, may cherish your copy!

230. CASPER HARBAUGH, This was an immigrant.

B-Aug. 11, 1733 in Germany. D-June 21, 1832. The earliest record we find of Casper Harbaugh was that he served in the French and Indian Wars, 1754-1763. (See the story in the French and Indian War section). If he entered the war at its beginning, he was only 21, and before that he probably lived with the Cramers or the Weimers, at least he was a single man up to then.

The next document found for Casper was a deed recorded in 1768, when he bought land at Philadelphia, which land was located in Dover Twpt., York Co., Pa. This must have been about the time he married. We next find his name on the tax list in York Twpt., in 1771 but not again until 1779 in Warrington Twpt., Pa. The tax lists of 1781 and 1782 show him in Manahan Twpt., York Co., Pa. The tax lists of 1785 and 1786 show him in Milfred Twpt., Bedford Co., Pa., and in 1790 we find his name in the first US. Census of Bedford Co. From 1786 through 1801 he paid taxes in Somerset Co., Pa. This means that he left York Co., after 1782 and went to Somerset County before 1785, which at that time was a part of Bedford County, and was changed after he arrived.

According to John Craig, a descendant, Casper came to Somerset County alone and built a cabin on what later became Harbaugh Run. He then returned east for his family. Upon returning he found beavers had dammed up the run and his home was in a beaver pond. He tried in vain to break the dam but the beavers built it back. So he built on higher ground. This was in Middle Creek Twpt. about 1790.

Back in the long ago, Allen Harbaugh, wrote in his personal family history, in 1790 emigration set in from the counties of York and Lancaster, whence came the Weimers, Prittses and Casper Harbaugh, with five sons and one daughter. We cannot say which son was not included, but perhaps it was Peter. We cannot say why he omitted the name Cramer from the families unless they had gone to Somerset County earlier. These families all settled between the city of Somerset and New Centerville.

In the story passed down by David Harbaugh, he stated that his father Casper served in Braddock's Army, escaped the Indians, then served in the Revolution with the rank of Captain, as a scout and messenger. For his services, he received a grant of land in Somerset County and reared his family there.

We have related Casper's French and Indian war record, but we found no records of his Revolutionary War service in the US Archives. However, we do find that he was enrolled in 1789 in the Militia Rolls of Quemanhoning Township, Bedford County, Pa. (See Penna. Archives, 6-S 3:39). This would be late for the Revolution, yet there is a possibility that he may have served in this war at an earlier date and we have no documents, or could not find them, other than the David account. There is a Revolutionary War disc on Casper's grave, how it got there we could not discover. In this small burial plot of the Cramer family, there are some 30 markers, four of them being marked with the same disc.

To substantiate the land grant story, we quote the following deed recorded in Somerset County (3:155):

Whereas the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by warrent issued by the Secretary of the Land Office bearing the date of 17th of February, 1798, did grant to be surveyed unto me the quantity of 200 acres including an improvement adjoining lands of Adam Cramer, John Miller, Chew Wilcocks, on the east side of Coxes Creek in Milfred Township in the County of Somerset, I, Casper Harbaugh for and in consideration of 100 pounds, sell this 3rd day of February 1802.

The above is interesting enough, however, it was on this deed that we found one of two signatures of Casper Harbaugh. The other was on another deed (3:156) in which he sold 86 acres for 100 pounds, which was located at the junction of and between the waters of Coxes Creek and Millers Run. In both cases he signed his name with German script, and the letters were Casper Herboe. This is almost the Danish spelling, and it is the spelling used by others of this period. (See the Danish account).

Casper Harbaugh was a small man, his wife was tall, and the sons were all over six foot, David being 6 ft. 4 in. Casper was a carpenter, and most of his sons followed the same trade. He was blind during the last ten years of his life. He died at the home of his son David. He is buried in the Cramer burial ground on what was then the Cramer farm. Perhaps his wife is there too, but she has no marker. This lot is about two blocks north of the town limits of New Centerville, Pa., on the east side of the road. Grave stones contain a large variety of epitaphs, enough to fill a volume like this. Although Casper's stone is at present readable, it is rapidly decomposing, and we give his inscriptions as they are, for descendants who, may not be able to go, or who may go too late.

His first name was John, which he never used. He lived in a log house when a boy, the roof of which was made of clapboard with weight-poles on the top to keep the roof on. In 1879, he learned the carpentry trade under James M. Harbaugh (1108) and followed this trade for 25 years. Mrs. Harbaugh was the Alum Bank (Pleasantville) postmistress for 18 years, appointed by President McKinley, in 1896 and served faithfully until removed by President Wilson, just before pensions were given. Kathryn Eloise,.....Apr. 20, 1915-.....Unmarried

Kenneth Carol,.....Dec. 25, 1928-.....m. Marjorie Ross

Kathryn lives at 511 Longfellow St., NW, Washington, D. C. She writes that her mother graduated from high school, 1910, had one year at Nebraska Wesleyan, a year at Kindergarten College at Chicago now National College of Education). Taught primary grades at Roseville and married a year later.

We have in our possession a copy of a letter written by Mrs. Adkisson, Dec. 20, 1928, in which she relates how an old woman stood at her door during the summer, asking for food for herself and husband, who it seemed was her second man. They claimed they were going from Keokuk to Aurora, searching for relatives by the name of Harbaugh. It seemed that they had been riding with some man, whose wagon broke down and they were going ahead on foot. The woman said their name was Davis, and that her mother married a Harbaugh, probably Adam Harbaugh, but she couldn't remember. She knew she had uncles Solomon and John Harbaugh, and an uncle in Ohio, who has made a fortune in oil. She said it ran in the family that one of her ancestors had been an Indian guide and had married an Indian Squaw, that there was Indian blood in the family, and this little old woman looked the part. We find the names above in Family 1160, no such names at Keokuk. There is another Indian story, See 1161.

715. FRANCIS HARBAUGH, This was an immigrant. Westmoreland Co., Pa.

B-1724 in Germany. See the Immigrant story. He was in the French and Indian Wars, where his name was spelled Francis Harbach. He was described as being 5 ft. 5 in., mulatto, and well set. Mr. Henry Young explains that "mulatto" in the 18th century was used to indicate swarthinness and not racial origin. The US Census, 1800, Bullskin Twpt., Fayette Co., Pa. lists Frances Heorbach, age above 45, with a son and wife. This would indicate that Jacob was the only son. The name Frances Harbaugh appears on the tax assessors list in 1791 in Fayette Co., Pa., on which he owned two horses and two cows, all valued at ten shillings, for which he paid no tax. He owned no land. His name appears in the same location, on the 1793 tax list as Frances Arabaugh; in 1795 as Frances Herbough; in 1796 as Francis Arbough, and last in 1801 as Frances Arbough. Since others we know to be Harbaughs, had their names spelled the same way as just outlined, we assume that the illiteracy of the tax taker accounts for the differences, and we can safely say his name was Francis Harbaugh. The disappearance of his name from the tax lists after 1801, may indicate the approximate death date, since no records of him were found in Kentucky, where we did find records of the son Jacob.

*Burials at Graceham Church, Md., and in these records may be found concerning David: "He was quiet and obedient to his parents." We quote the following for the interest of any descendants:

Geo. Herbach, B. Feb. 20, 1726 at Geistweyler bey Keyzers Lautern in der Pfaetz; came to America in 1738. First communed at Lancaster, May 18, 1752. Moved from here to Monscacy, April 29, 1754. Married, Oct. 4, 1746, the widow Catherine Bender, nee Willard at Creis (Crice) Crick. Shee came to America 1746. (Herbach, Moravian Archives, York Hist. Society.)

Rev. Henry Harbaugh said of him—he was a man of remarkable large proportions. He was not only very corpulent, but also of unusual height, amounting to almost a giant.

He removed to Harbaugh Valley sometime about 1760, in the region later called Hauvers District. When he came to the Valley, there was not yet a road in existence from the lower outlet of the valley up through it, only a path. They had to unload their effects, and leave their wagons at the eastern end of the valley; and make arrangements to convey their effects to the place of destination in some other way—no doubt on sleds, and perhaps on pack horses.

*All these data from the Graceham Church records in the York Hist. Society, from which we quote the following verbatim—

John George, eldest son of George and Catherine (Williar) Harbaugh married first Nov. 27, 1770, Elizabeth Benkele, born Dec. 19, 1749 and died Jan. 23, 1780. Her body was brought through the deep snow on a sled to the church for burial. The children were, John George, born Nov. 11, 1771; John Jacob, born, Dec. 25, 1773; Elizabeth, born Oct. 19, 1775; John, born Mar. 21, 1778 and an infant daughter born Jan. 10, 1780 and buried in the garden the same day by the mother herself.

From the 1856 Annals, page 32, we quote the following—He lived for some time on the old homestead. Afterwards he removed to Bedford Co., Pa., and on one occasion, coming to the Valley on a visit, he took sick and died on his way home.

775. GEORGE HARBAUGH, Jr. 773. Tuscarawas Co., Ohio.

B-Nov. 11, 1771. M-Aug. 25, 1793, Amy Hall, as recorded at Frederick, Md. Pvt in Muster Roll, 8th Co., 7th Battalion, York Co., for the spring, 1785. (Penna Archives, 6th Series, 3:1445) Rev. Henry Harbaugh wrote that he lived on The Plains in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, near Strasburg, and that he had two daughters. The Census records show not only two daughters but also six sons. We have never been able to identify these six sons. The deeds in Bedford County, Pa., and Tuscarawas Co., Ohio, show both George, Sr. and George, Jr., lived together most of the time. Since we do not know the children of George Jr., and George, Sr's. younger children also went to Ohio, we may eliminate them from the possibilities, and assume the following to be the sons of George, Jr. — Samuel, Frederick C., 756; Nathaniel, 1774; Bazile, 153; John Felix, 1210; Charles, 258. One of the daughters was probably Margaret, m. George Lower. This amounts to little more than a good guess, and is not authentic.

46. HENRY HARBAUGH, 1216. Blacksmith, Higginsville, Illinois.

Henry Harbaugh came to Danville in 1836. He left Cincinnati, Ohio, by the steamboat Utah, which was bound for Perrysville, Illinois. He came down the Ohio to the mouth of the Wabash River, hence up to Perrysville. Not liking Danville, he went to a prospective town of Vermilion Rapids, later known as Higginsville. (From the History of Vermilion County by Lottie Jones, 1910.)

He was the earliest blacksmith in town. He built a shop right in the road east of Higginsville, then built a house nearby. For years he used the old log house, which settled so, and the refuse from his forge, which he threw around the door, so raised the ground, that it was difficult to get a horse inside. (History, Vermilion County, by H. W. Beckwith.)

On his 108th birthday, he enjoyed good health, having little illness during his life. He had bad eyesight. He was always temperate in all things, chewed tobacco since childhood, and seldom smoked. He believed in outdoor life. He established his first shop on West Main Street now occupied by the Arlington Hotel in Danville, (Newspaper clipping.)

He was born in Green County, Penna, but we could find no records in that county. He came to Cincinnati as a boy. He made the first handcuff and the first jail key in Illinois. His vote placed the county seat of Vermilion County at Danville. He went up and down the Rivers many times with Abraham Lincoln. He tried many cases with Lincoln and beat him in several cases. This story by his daughter Gracie.

He was reared in the home of John Kaiser, husband of his half-sister Dorcas Airy. Jacob Snyder (See 1080) was thought to be a relative, as Henry often talked of Madison. His middle name was Harrison. This note by his son Alexander. The family compiled from the US Census, 1850-60-70, and Gracie, as the Bible burned with the home.

947. HENRY HARBAUGH, Ancestry unknown. Wood County, Ohio.

It seems that the parents of this Henry may have died early, at least the family seems to have been broken up. The Census records show he and all his children were born in Penna., yet we find his marriage record in Wooster, Wayne County, Ohio. There is a possibility of a relationship with John Harbaugh, See 1161, yet nothing except the nearness of the children's birth dates would indicate this. All the birth dates given are from his Bible, where his birth date was not recorded.

He died Apr. 7, 1852. M-July 1, 1828, Anna Powers, who died Mar. 7, 1854. Following his death and complicated further by her death shortly thereafter, the family was broken up and placed in various homes, hence he knew little of his real parents.

949. HENRY HARBAUGH, 776. Mercersburg, Penna.

B-Oct. 28, 1817 near Waynesboro, Pa. D-Dec. 28, 1867.*

Theologian, hymn writer, poet, and publisher. He was brought up in a simple, plain household. As a boy he was different than others of his age. He had a will that refused to be conquered. When 19 he left home, where he had experienced farm life. Assured of a temporary home with relatives, he set out for eastern Ohio on Aug. 4, 1836, passing through Bedford, Somerset, Mt. Pleasant, to Pittsburgh, then 53 miles down the Ohio River, and continuing by stage to Stark County, Ohio. This was much the same route made by many migrations. Here he was employed as a house builder, and began to study to improve his vocabulary. On one occasion he wrote home — I will give you a memorandum of the females of the West, but I have another maggot in my brain now besides marrying a wife. He made it clear one of the purposes of his leaving home was to get an education. He remained about Massillon, Canal Dover and New Hagerstown until the fall of 1840. During those three winters he taught school, attended sessions of the New Hagerstown Academy, wrote a great deal, preparing speeches on patriotic subjects and papers on romance. He had political debates, and on one occasion he said — I am a Republican, a Democrat and a friend of equal rights, but not a Van Buren man. I am genuine Conservative.

In 1840 he entered Franklin and Marshall College, which he completed in 1843. In 1843, he was ordained in the German Reformed Church. From 1843 to 1864 he held pastorates successfully in Lewisburg, Lancaster and Lebanon, Pa. His first charge gave him a salary of $300 a year. Early after 1843, he wrote for The Messenger, a church paper of which he became editor in 1850. In 1863 he helped to charter Mercersburg Academy (formerly Franklin and Marshall), and after twenty years he returned to the campus, where he was educated, as professor of Theology. Shortly after his appointment, he became editor of the Mercersburg Review. In addition to his many activities, he delivered 135 sermons in 1850, 155 in 1851, 132 in 1852, and also kept up his pastorate and special lectures. It is no wonder he died a rather young man!

He was a man of senatorial appearances, purposeful and serious, withal he possessed a fine sense of humor. He was greatly interested in the religious welfare of his relatives, and those of the community. He was stern and never faltered, and had little use for anyone out of the church. For his services, he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Divinity at the commencement of Union College, July 26, 1860.

He will be remembered for the books he published — The Golden Censer, Fathers of the Reformed Church, The Life of Michael Schlatter, etc. He is better known for his two great hymns, Jesus, I Live for Thee and Jesus, My Shepherd. His branch of the Harbaugh family will better remember him for his little volume — Annals of the Harbaugh Family in America from 1736 to 1856. He never could be induced to publish his poems in Pennsylvania dialect, but after his death, with the aid of Rev. B. Bausmann, his second wife collected and published his poems under the title of Harbaugh's Harfe, thus enabling her to rear her family by its sale. His childhood school house, forms the subject of his most celebrated poem Das alt Schul-haus an der Krick written in 1861. He gave the (Pennsylvania) Dutch dictionary to his people, since the language has no generic source, but is made up of German, Swiss-German and French and other languages, all without a basic etymology. He also translated the Bible into this Dutch.

We regret that our space in this volume is limited, but for a more complete account of his life see The Life of Rev. Henry Harbaugh, DD. published by his son Linn in 1900. Also see his 1856 Annals. His diary written when he was 27, is in Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster. M-1st. Dec. 14, 1843, Louisa Goodrich, B-June 20, 1824. D-Sept. 26, 1847. This marriage is recorded at Carrollton, Carrol Co., Ohio, which shows that his romances were successful. Louisa Goodrich died while they were on a visit to New Hagerstown, Ohio.

951. HENRY HARBAUGH, This was an immigrant. Farmer, Springboro, Ohio.

B-Mar. 25, 1825. D-Apr. 1909. He came to America from near Gros-senbuseck, Germany, as a single man in 1856. He landed at New York City and lived in the Bowery until he married, then he went to Scranton, Pa., because he had some relatives, there according to his sons. Who those relatives were, we do not know, but this is the same general region where several Harbaugh immigrants lived. From Scranton he went to Dayton, Ohio then to Springboro. The US Census, Clear Creek Twpt., Warren Co., Ohio, 1860 his name is spelled HARBACH, and in 1870 as HARBAUGH. This change of name was confirmed by his sons, who also agree on the above story. Some descendants continued to use Harbaugh and others reverted to Harbach. M-Margaret Ritz, in New York City. B-1826. D-Mar. 5, 1899.

1056. JACOB HARBAUGH, 2315. Harbaugh Valley, Maryland.

B-Feb. 5, 1730. D-Apr. 28, 1818* He came to America with his father.

He moved to the Valley shortly after marriage, and settled on the land on which he lived and died in the upper end of the Valley. Various parts of his farm were called Sweet Land, Peace the Best, Jacob's Last Chance, Sugar Tree Valley, Tired Dog, and Mount Olivet. He was tall and stout in person. He had one eye, as a result of some malicious men, who fell foul of him at Money's Tavern, which, it seems, was a place of justice, and while he defended himself, one man struck him with a stone. Late in life, a cataract made him blind for a year until an operation restored his sight. He was a very strict disciplinarian. During winter evenings, he sat at a table and read, but not a whisper came from the family, each in his usual place. While eating, the children stood around the table. The food was plain and simple. They ate soup for breakfast, no meat, and fruits in season. They ate meat at noon. In the evening, soup and potatoes were served, no meat. Mush and milk was used often, and buttermilk was the drink, except on the Sabbath when they had coffee. (Notes from 1856 Annals, p. 40) M-Apr. 1, 1761, Anna Margaret Schmidt, B-Apr. 2, 1740. 1161. JOHN HARBAUGH, Ancestry unknown. Wayne County, Ohio.

This John Harbaugh, as a single man, swam the Ohio River south of Pittsburgh with his clothes on his head. Upon coming out of the river, he was seen by a Wyandotte Indian girl, whom he chased and caught. According to Indian custom, he was compelled to marry this girl for his action, or be scalped. They married. They settled at the Grand Falls of the Maumee River, just south of Toledo, Ohio. This story related by his grandson Lemuel Harbaugh, (1385).

We were always taught that we were of Indian descent and mother told us of grandfather David going with his father to Indian camps, writes Mrs. Idah Johnson Wilson, his great-granddaughter, 1018.

The first two sons were thought by the other three younger brothers to have remained with the Indians as did the daughter. Several grandsons of Harrison Harbaugh, made a special trip to Clay County, Indiana, from near Bedford, Indiana, to search for their long lost relatives. They attended a Harbaugh reunion within a mile of where Timothy lived and died and where his body was buried. This fact is recalled by the authors, for they were in charge of that reunion. This incident together with the documentary evidences that these brothers were not far apart in Ohio, and all drifted to Indiana may have some significance.

Two grandsons of the son John Harbaugh, relate how their ancestors had come to Rock Island, Ill., in search of their Indian ancestors. Benjamin Harbaugh, 164, did live in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin. Some descendants have been found in Oklahoma, in Indian populated country. (See 1642)

The name of the Indian girl was Polly Baker. (no dates for them)

1162. JOHN HARBAUGH, 1867. St. Clair Twpt., Bedford Co., Pa.

B-1781. The following is a record of John Harbaugh, and how he got to Bedford County, prepared by Mr. Cyrus Harbaugh, in 1930—

Somewhere between the years 1780 to 1785, a family of Harbaughs, supposed to have come from Maryland, where there is a good number of the name to this date. This family traveling west through Bedford County by wagon, stopped at Thomas Griffiths for a rest, probably on account of sickness. They left two of their children there, saying they would come back after them, they never returned. Very likely they were killed by the Indians or met death in some other way. Mr. Griffith raised these children at his home near Fishertown. Sophia married Amos Penrose. John was a miller by trade, and married Rachel Hammond and lived at the Blackburn mill.

Comments — after checking all records, we found that this John's ancestor was Peter Harbach of Berks County, Pa. In 1946, we related our discovery to Mr. Cyrus Harbaugh, and he told that he was related to the Reading Harbachs, and that as a young man he went to Berks County to visit with his cousins. The Peter probably didn't go farther than Westmoreland County, Pa. This is definitely a case of changing the name from Harbach to Harbaugh, whereas Harbaugh generally came from Herbach. The data of the family from Cyrus Harbaugh, and other sources.

1240. JOHN PETER HERBACH, This was an immigrant. (See the immigrant story).

He was imported into America on the Snow Molly from Rotterdam, Oct. 26, 1741, at the age of 31, which makes him born in 1710. In the lists of Rupp, Immigrants in Penna, and, Strausberger, Pennsylvania German Pioneers, he is listed as from the Palatine, and his name is spelled Herbach. According to the Penna German Folklore Society (Vol I, p. 115) in 1741 Peter Horbach left Jeckenbach, Oberamt Meisenheim, Duchy of Zweibrucken, Germany for America. Sometime after 1856, I. D. Rupp, wrote Rev. Henry Harbaugh a letter in which he used the Harbach spelling. It is fairly clear that this man settled in Berks County, Pa., used the name Herbach, and some of his descendants, who remained around Reading, changed it to Harbach, and some descendants, who went to Maryland and Bedford County, Pa., followed the usual custom of changing Herbach to Harbaugh. Of his family, we know very little. We do know that he had at least two sons. One of these had several children, and retained the name Harbach, and their descendants remain around Reading. The other son we know was Peter, whose wife's name was Sophia, and they went to Bedford Co., and later Westmoreland Co., Pa. See 1867.

In his personal copy of his 1856 Annals, Rev. Henry Harbaugh had clipped a news account of Joseph Harbaugh, which in part says he accompanied his father, Leonard, to Washington City in 1781 and was at various times employed on the construction of nearly all of the first Governmental Departments and is believed to have been the last citizen who was present at the laying of the cornerstone of the Capitol at Washington.

All the children were named in the 1856 Annals, except Ann, who was perhaps deceased. In his will, he named Adeline, Eliza, Leonard, Valentine, and John, in that order and all living, so the others must have died before their father. In the same will, he named Letty, a slave, to whom he gave her freedom for life upon his death.

1394. LEONARD HARBAUGH, 2315. Washington, D. C.

B-May 10, 1749. D-Sept. 11, 1822* Leonard Harbaugh moved from York, Pa., sometime between 1775 and 1780, and resided in Baltimore, Md., up to 1781, when he moved to Washington, D. C. During the time he was in Baltimore, he constantly engaged in building of every kind—churches, taverns, dwellings, warehouses, and bridges. He is credited by descendants with the building of the first apartment house in Baltimore.

In the spring of 1782, the Commissioners of the City of Washington gave a contract to Leonard Harbaugh for the erection of a stone bridge over Rock Creek on a line with K Street. The bridge was a three-arched structure, and was defective, so fell down, hence a public loss. Another structure was built over Rock Creek about 1800 of wood, which was only temporary. The Commissioners of Washington and the Corporation of Georgetown cooperated in the construction of another stone structure at K Street according to the rules. This structure stood and Leonard was the builder of the first arched bridge in America to stand.

The contract for the building of the Treasury Building was let to Leonard Harbaugh in Nov. 1798 for the sum of $39,511 to have it completed by the first of July, 1800. For a more detailed account of his work in Washington, see The History of the National Capital, by W. B. Bryan, p. 189 ff.

He owned a hundred lots in Washington ranging in price from $300 to $800. This was a large accumulation of property, since wages were around $2.50 per day at that time. He had lost most of this property by 1802, probably in his efforts to make good the loss to the government of some of the bridges. It seems from many records, that he was the business partner of George Washington, at least their names appear on several papers, as reported by Mrs. Marion Dwight Harbaugh, who has done considerable research upon this.

In a letter written by his son, Benjamin, Feb. 4, 1853, we find that Leonard occasionally preached and exhorted in religious assemblies in the church under the charge of Rev. Otterbein. In consequence of some misunderstandings, occasioned by a heavy draft on his time and means, he withdrew himself from the church and congregation.

*According to a letter written by one of her sons, she was buried at Baltimore. However, in the Congressional Cemetery, Washington there is a marker showing Leonard and his wife in the same grave and Rebecca and David in another grave.

He was born in Hellam Twpt., York County, Pa. The first two children were born in York County, the 3rd to 10th in Baltimore, and the others in Washington. This fairly well fixes the time they lived in those places. His Bible is in possession of James Edward Harbaugh, and in this we find the statement—Thirteen boys and each one had a sister.

1866. PETER HARBAUGH, 1157. Farmer, Coshocton Co., Ohio.

B-1793, in Pa. D-Apr. 7, 1879. He was a rather short, heavy man, and possessed a high voice. Study of the records in several counties in Ohio, where he lived and did business, indicate that he was a good trader, often receiving many times the amounts he paid for property. This was due to his ability to improve such property. At various times he possessed goodly sums of property, yet following the death of his wife, he was called a tramp by his friends and relatives, for he went from place to place, with a very large suit case, in which his friends said, who peeped, he had nothing but a celluloid collar. He always wore rubber boots in his later years but he refused to get them muddy. He died in and is buried at the Coshocton County Infirmary. M-Oct. 4, 1818, Mary Stickle (Polly), B-Sept. 6, 1800 in Pa. D-Jan. 11, 1862. Her dates and those of her two daughters are from their marble markers at Millwood, Pa., erected by her husband.

B-Dec. 18, 1800 in Pa. D-Apr. 24, 1864* The US Census records show that he was born in Penna., and all the children in Ohio but his wife in Kentucky. His first deeds were found recorded in Brown County, Ohio, in 1835, and in 1850 he was found in Jackson Twpt., Clermont Co. The deeds also show that James Lowe Harbaugh (1106) owned property in Brown County at the same time. There may have been a connection, yet his birth in Penna might indicate connection with the Henry Harbaugh (946) of Danville, Ill.

Mr. S. Mr. Harbaugh has arrived in St. Louis and publishes a card detailing the facts. He says that in the issue of Friday morning of the 6th, he inserted the names of the Republican President and Vice-President, and underneath marked that we must houst the name of our candidates for President and Vice-President this morning, and will give our reasons for this tomorrow. 2087. SOLOMON HARBAUGH, 337. Harrison Co., Indiana.

B-Feb. 5, 1802 in Md. D-Sept. 22, 1877. His first name was John, which he never used. He walked from Baltimore, Md., carrying his rifle and sack of gold, and never returned to any of his brothers or sisters, writes one of his descendants. Peter Elias claimed that his father and mother with two children and their belongings, came down the Ohio River to Tobacco Landing. The deeds show that he purchased a farm in 1836. He told the Census takers that his children were all born in Indiana. So it is possible they walked part of the way and took a boat the rest. M-Mar. 3, 1826, Margaret Miller, B-June 3, 1801. D-Apr. 3, 1875. Their burials at Goshen Cemetery, Laconia, Indiana.

2315. YOST HARBAUGH (Herbach), This was an immigrant.

B-in Europe, somewhere between 1695 and 1705. D-Apr. 3, 1762, with burial in Hellam Twpt., York Co., Pa. In the first deed he made in 1739, Joost Harbogh bought one hundred acres in Maxatawny Twpt., at that time Philadelphia County, and later Berks County. This farm was midway between Reading and Allentown. In his 1856 Annals, Rev. Henry Harbaugh thought that his ancestor came to America in 1736, from Switzerland. There is a record in York Historical Society showing he was born in Kaiserslautern. We had reported to us from Kansas, that Yost went to Switzerland about 1720 and from there to Philadelphia. We have never located an immigration record, nor the name of his father. It may be a coincident, but we did find another immigrant, John Peter Harbaugh (1240) in 1741, and who settled in Berks County, Pa. It was about 1743 that Yost removed to his new settlement at Kreutz Creek, in York County. It was in 1742 that another immigrant Casper Harbaugh (230) came to America, and the deeds show he settled in York County also. John Peter remained in Berks County, Casper went to Somerset County, and Yost died east of York, Pa.

Yost was a pious person. He loved the church and brought up his children in it. He helped to found the church at Kreutz Creek, which was near his homestead, an organization which still exists. He was a man of stout physical frame, energetic spirit, and great courage.

In our search for data, we have found many wills of Harbaughs, they are a will-making family. It would require an extra volume to copy all the last testaments left behind, but we feel the will of Yost will be of interest to many descendants, so we give it exactly as it is recorded at York, Pa., in its original language, punctuation and spelling:

ment in presents of us. Heinrich Schmidt, Leonhart Comforth, Henry Strickler.

Then came the usual statements settling the estate as outlined.

Of Yost Harbaugh's first wife, Rev. Henry was not able to learn anything. Of the second wife, he says tradition does not speak favorably. He was of the opinion that she married again, for it was known that she left the homestead and lived afterwards in York. It was known that she became extremely poor in her old age, and that she sustained herself, to some extent by selling garden seeds and vegetables. She must have forfeited the provision made for her in the will. In her last days, it seems she was properly cared for in the family of her youngest daughter. One of her grandsons, Rev. H. Lenhart, was quoted as saying that he recalled his grand-mother Harbaugh living in York to a good old age and that she was born in Germany. In our search, we found that Maria Elizabeth had been married twice before, first to Lorentz Lease and second to a Mr. Coppenhoffer.

In keeping with our form we will now give the family—M-1st. Name of wife unknown. They married in Europe. The records show that the first three sons were born in Europe.

2316. YOST HARBAUGH, 2315. York Co., Pa.

B-Oct. 11, 1741 in Berks Co., Pa. D-Aug. 16, 1831 in Wash. Co., Md. The York Republican of Aug. 16, 1831 states that he was born on the 11th of October, old style, or 22nd of October, new style. He died of Asiatic cholera at the home of his son-in-law Benjamin Emmert. The body was buried at Antietam, near Hagerstown, but later removed to the Emmert lot near Funkstown, Md. There is a gravestone in Prospect Hill Cemetery at York, Pa.

From the records it is known that in 1755, Benjamin Franklin, then Postmaster General of Penna., obtained 150 wagons and 250 pack-horses in York, Lancaster and Cumberland Counties for Braddock's Expedition to Fort Duquesne, now Pittsburgh. Yost Harbaugh was then 14 years old, but he was a teamster in that expedition. (See Spangler, Annals of the Spangler Family).

In the Revolutionary War, we find that he was appointed Captain, York Co., Militia, Sept. 11, 1776, and served in the campaign in New Jersey, in Colonel Wm. Rankin's Battalion York Co., Associators. He was again active in the campaign around Philadelphia in the autumn of 1777. (Ref. G. O. Seilhamer, General Notes, p. 49. See Revolutionary War list of soldiers in the introduction)

Captain Yost was a very large man, over six feet tall. He often rode horse-back, wearing a blanket in cold weather instead of an overcoat. Sometimes he journeyed on foot from choice. He was a member of the Legislature from York County in 1799. M-1st. Eva Bahn, B-Dec. 23, 1743. D-Dec. 2, 1794.
